GIVE THE POOR THEIR SHARE.

The season at the Metropolitan Cpera-House, with its magnificent scenery, its marvellous quantity of tinsel, its much-praised orchestra and an array of voices which many critics wish were more praiseworthy, is about opening. The moneyed aristocracy has bought its boxes for the season, and gowns decollete, diamonds ad ltb, and flowers no end are being made ready to turn the vast remorium into a bewildering scene of life, Meantime, the little children cluster on the steps of the tenements all through the low districts along East River. There is no old organ-grinder with his jolly music-box to set their young feet dancing and gladden their miserable little hearts. Sick children of the poor, pent in shabby dwellings, press pale faces against sooty panes and listen vainly for the cheap music, which the rich would scoff at, but which to them is the sweetest of melody.

beauty and fashion.

The street musicians will meet to make protest against the ordinance prohibiting their business. Good luck to you, ye turners of cranks. Humanity is on your side, and the Aldermen cannot put forward the necessity of vote-counting as an adequate excuse for deafness to your demands.

If they do they are cranks and ought to be

CONCERNING MR. AMES.

Ames, who can probably hoist a pigskin football further and straighter, with that fierce right toe of his, than any other student in the country, will play with the Princeton College team after all and despite the mean little efforts of Harvard to disqualify h'm.

The Advisory Board of the Intercollegiate Association met sesterday and laid on the table Harvard's kick against the Princeton

That is right. There is no use in being ngly. Princeton did a wrong thing in getting back WAGENHURST, a former player who has since become an undeniable professional But that should not be made an excuse by Harvard for protesting the whole team simply because she fears the Jerseymen. Let Princeton be at her best so far as is consistent with amateur principles. And if Harvard prove better, well and good, but don't try, boys to trick and cheat each other out of any College athletics should be the purest form of sport. There is too much professionalism among your college men to-day. It doesn't become them in the least.

LET IT WAIT.

An Associated Press despatch says: "There is a fortune of $45,000,000 awaiting in the English Courts of Chancery for a number of residents of this city."

That is the whole trouble with these Engknown in baseball parlance as " magnificent waiters." But they don't seem to have mo-

It is best, as the experience of many a man in America, hungry for sudden riches, will show, to let these fortunes do all the waiting. As for you, go about your business and make a fortune if you want one-and car

If you can't, you may safely wager there is some good reason why inscrutable Fate deprives you of it and bankrupts all your efforts.

There are better things than being rich.

PASS IT ALONG.

Missouri is the kind of a State to have. Yesterday was the last day for filing affidavits under the anti-Trust law, and 300 affidavits reached the Secretary of State. Seven hundred corporations are now subject to the penalty, and the Secretary of State will go about revoking their charters.

Lead Trusts and Cracker Trusts and even Coffin-Nail Trusts, it seems, must take their prescribed medicine.

Would that this active spirit of anti-Trust might hasten this way. It is probably gaining strength by practice with the smaller weights in Missouri to grapple with the hydra-headed, whale-bellied concerns which centre in New York, and whose tentacles reach around the whole Union. Well, speed the day, and here's more power

LISTEN, YOU GUILTY.

Sing Sing Prison is declared by the Examining Commission to be unfit for use. They recommend that the instrution be removed from the village of Sing Sing and a new prison built.

Life in the new one would not be much different. Prison existence is a sing-song affair at best. But the old prison, with its quiet and its traditions, might be kept as the shode of the small percentage of putocratic criminal who get caught. The quie er it is the better they'll like it, and, in fact, it is rather good form to go there.

Contributions for the Christmas Trees Coming in Rapidly.

Children in Sunday-Schools and Public Schools Can Aid.

Five Hundred Beautiful Books Presented by a Generous Firm.

THE EVENING WORLD'S Christmas-Tree Fund continues to claim enthusiastic attention. Contributions are coming in thickly and commendation of the charity is heard on every hand. There is no citizen of New York or its sister cities who is not in full sympathy with THE EVENING | Moss Gah Davis' wattah million patch. Wonn in this pleasant task it has set itself, to brighten the Christmas of the poor children.

There is no citizen who should not open his purse and contribute to the charity. The little folk, too, should give of their dimes which they can spare. Children can make the Christmas-Tree Fund a magnificent success if they take it earnestly in hand and determine to make the enterprise their own. In the one hundred public schools of the city there are many thousands of little ones would give if some of the more bus ness-like would make a move by calling for subscriptions. Pass a list around in the schools, and let every class do its best to out-contribute and the every class so its best to out-contribute all other casses.

The same advice will apply to the Sunday-schools. Some of these have hig Christmas trees of their own. The little ones in these schools would, no doubt, glaslly forego some of their Christmas pleasures to brighten the day for the children of poverty. There are, in fact, a hundred ways in which The Eveshno Woman Christmas-Tree Fund could be made to reach grand proportions. Each interested individual will suggest his own way of obtaining the best result for this charity, and each will give in his own way.

Besides the money contributions that have been received by THE EVENING WORLD a package of 500 Christmas books has come. This is the first donation of the kind that has been made. The following communication was received with the books:

Appreciating your noble and generous efforts for the poor children l.ss a representative of the London publishing firm of Socki & Nathan, send you to-day an assortment of 500 Christmas books selected from our publications for this year. dent of the League:

Postmaster is an outrage. It was the only thing left to give to the working Republicans, and Ira Dorsey ought to have had it.

Every prominent Republican expresses the same opinion. Not a single worker has received an appointment. At the great Quartermasters ilepot the men dismissed by Cieveland, who had been office-holders for twenty years, have been remasted. None of them have been active in politics. It is the same all through Southern in the Republican ranks. New Albany Republicans are angry because Gen. Jasper Packard did not get the Collector-ship of the Seventh District. Terre Haute is angry because J. Philback did not get it. The appointee, J. P. Throop, of Pa-li, a Gre-ham man, as are almost all of the appointees in this section. W. B. Godfrey, postmaster at New Albany; Stoles Bennett, postmaster at Evausville; J. Hudson, postmaster at Corydon, and many others are all Greshamites, and in nearly every instance were appointed against the wish of a majority of the Republicans, who preferred some active worker.

An Aged Couple Murdered.

St. Petes, Minn., Nov. 15.-The bodies of Svenska Torgeson and wife, an aged and welllo-do couple living in New Sweden, were found yesterday in the amouldering ember of their yesterday in the amouldering ember of their home which had burned during the night. Torgeson, before emigrating to America was a member of the Upper House of Norwellan Stortfing. Although possessed of a considerable amount of mo ey he was afraid of banks and kert all his wealth in gold coin secreted in his house. As none of the coin has been cound in the ruins there is a strong suspicion that the couple were murdered for their money and the house burned to destroy all evidence of the crime.

This Deputy Marshal Does His Duty. SPECIAL TO THE WORLD, 1. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 15. - Deputy Mar-

since ast August, arrived here yesterday with two moonshiners, Rinda Meadows and John Mills, from Wyom ng County. Hager had several bul-lets cut out of his body this evening by a sur-geon in this city. He is one of the best denu-ties in the mountain districts of this State, and has been shot so often that he is a waiking lead mine. A Combination, but Not a Trust, PITTSBURG, Nov. 15.-The American Manufurturer states that no per cent. of the forge ompanies of the country have formed a compination for mutual protection. The combination, it is claimed, has none of the features of a Trust, as the several companies retain their ide fity and have complete charge of their works. It is admitted, however, that some effort will be made to sustain prices, which will allow a fair return on the capital invested. A Case Against Sidney Dillon Settled.
